

In-Home Vaccine Administration Program

In-home vaccine administration that helps patients begin and stay on the specialty therapies they need.

OVERVIEW

PARTNERS

Manufacturer that also serves as the hub and specialty pharmacy, Nursing Provider (Naven Health)

PATIENT POPULATION

Adults living with rare conditions, with occasional pediatric patients

PROGRAM FOCUS

In-home administration of the vaccines patients need before and during certain specialty therapies. Some of these therapies act on part of the immune system, which can raise the risk of a serious infection, so vaccination is a necessary step.

PROGRAM MODEL

Naven has served these patients since 2024. Vaccination usually runs as a series of doses followed by boosters, so patients may be anywhere in the series when care begins.

"All the team members have been great. From the beginning, making sure all of my medical information was correct to setting up my first appointment. The nurse that came for my first shot, Anna, was great. Thank you all very much."
